

WHY COMPLY?

Federal Enforcement & Heavy Fines

In Jan. 2006, the Federal Trade Commission imposed a $15 million fine upon one organization from which personal data was stolen. Several other companies that failed to comply will be closely audited for the next 10 years.

Federal agencies are actively enforcing laws requiring physical safeguards to protect personal information.

Not only is compliance important...it's the law.

Rollok Rolling Doors

The Perfect Solution Privacy Law Compliance

Since 1989, Rollok has been manufacturing a security system that is quick and easy to install and operate.

Rollok doors roll up and down with ease, providing effortless operation with a spring or motor. For Privacy Law compliance, the answer is always Rollok.

Security

- Rolls down for total security

Convenience

- Retrofits to new or existing shelving
- No need to relocate records
- Able to span multiple sections of shelving
- No loss of filing inches
- Extenders allow for protruding folders

Simplicity

- Made of lightweight durable aluminum
- Effortless operation with spring or motor
- Push-button lock conveniently located
- Easy installation on any application

